MICHELLE HASKIN NEW PRESIDENT OF
CAPITAL DISTRICT WOMEN'S BAR ASSOCIATION

ALBANY, NY— McNamee, Lochner, Titus & Williams, P.C., one of the Capital Region's oldest and largest law firms, announced that Michelle L. Haskin is the new president of the Capital District Women's Bar Association (CDWBA).

Haskin, who practices in matrimonial and family law, joined the McNamee Law Firm in 1996 and became a principal in 2004.

She is a member of the New York State Bar Association's Family Law Section Executive Committee and its Gender Task Force, serves on The Legal Project Honorary Board, and co-chairs the Women's Bar Association of the State of New York (WBASNY) Matrimonial Committee.

Haskin lectures extensively at Continuing Legal Education (CLE) programs and provides pro bono services through The Legal Project, Inc. She received the CDWBA 2001 Pro Bono Award and the 2006 Stanley A. Rosen Award for pro bono service to domestic violence victims.

The CDWBA, founded in 1978, has approximately 300 members, including private practitioners, judges, government attorneys, court officials, in-house counsel, and law students. Associate membership is offered to non-attorneys in law-related professions, including paralegals. The CDBWA helps its members through resource sharing, law-related and community opportunities, and networking. Founded in 1863, the McNamee Law Firm currently employs 33 attorneys and is located at 677 Broadway in Albany and 646 Plank Road in Clifton Park.
